According to the American Psychological Association (APA), one space after terminal punctuation is considered correct for papers submitted for a grade. Use ellipses when omitting material within a quote. Place a comma after the penultimate word in a series. For example: Your books, ball, and bat are under the bed.

The APA Style Blog is the official companion to the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association, Sixth Edition. It explores what APA Style is and how it works in a variety of areas, including reference citations of every sort, grammar and usage, the publication process, and social media.

APA (American Psychological Association) style is most commonly used to cite sources within the social sciences. This resource, revised according to the 6th edition, second printing of the APA manual, offers examples for the general format of APA research papers, in-text citations, endnotes/footnotes, and the reference page.
